

Silvana Salvini - Curriculum vitae

Born in Florence on 3rd September 1949.

From September 1981: Research assistant at the Department of Statistics of the University of Florence.

From November 1991: Associate professor of Demography at the University of Florence.

From November 2000: Professor of Demography at the University of Florence.

From November 2003: Full professor of Demography at the University of Florence.

From November 2018: Retired professor of Demography at the University of Florence.

From 26 March 2008 to 31 December 2012 Head of the Department of Statistics.

Member of the Italian Statistical Society.

Member of the Italian Society of Historical Demography.

Member of the Italian Society of Demography Economics and Statistics.

Member of the European Association of Population Studies.